UNIVERSITY OF MIAMI
SCHOOL of LAW

NEWS FROM THE DIRECTOR

More thanks for your ongoing support of the Center for Ethics & Public Service. As the Center advances toward its 50th anniversary in 2021, we invite you to join us in celebrating the achievements of the past year and in looking forward to the exciting transitions of the upcoming year.

During the 2009-2010 academic year more than 1,486 fellows and interns enrolled in the Center’s education and training programs and community service clinics. Highlights include the Professional Responsibility and Ethics Program’s presentation of 20 continuing legal education bar and bench training workshops and nine leadership luncheons, the Jennings Law Program’s collaboration with ten Miami-Dade County schools, the Historic Black Church Program’s West Coast and Healing and pro bono projects, and the Environmental Law Project’s sponsored its 2nd annual earth-friendly program with the Natural Resources Defense Council.

In the upcoming 2010-2011 academic year, the Center will set out to earn further support of its current education and training programs and to establish new Interdisciplinary, campus-community programs featuring institutional and interdisciplinary accreditation in the fields of pre-established responsibility and public service. To that end, this spring we have been collaborating with campus faculty from the Schools of Business Administration, Communication, and Education in developing new initiatives.

In light of these exciting developments in education, training, and community service of the law, we are proud, we hope that you will join us on as friends of the Center for Ethics & Public Service.

Terry

Anthony A. Abbott
Professor of Law

UNIVERSITY OF MIAMI
SCHOOL of LAW

NEWS FROM THE DIRECTOR

More thanks for your ongoing support of the Center for Ethics & Public Service. As the Center advances toward its 50th anniversary in 2021, we invite you to join us in celebrating the achievements of the past year and in looking forward to the exciting transitions of the upcoming year.

During the 2009-2010 academic year more than 1,486 fellows and interns enrolled in the Center’s education and training programs and community service clinics. Highlights include the Professional Responsibility and Ethics Program’s presentation of 20 continuing legal education bar and bench training workshops and nine leadership luncheons, the Jennings Law Program’s collaboration with ten Miami-Dade County schools, the Historic Black Church Program’s West Coast and Healing and pro bono projects, and the Environmental Law Project’s sponsored its 2nd annual earth-friendly program with the Natural Resources Defense Council.

In the upcoming 2010-2011 academic year, the Center will set out to earn further support of its current education and training programs and to establish new Interdisciplinary, campus-community programs featuring institutional and interdisciplinary accreditation in the fields of pre-established responsibility and public service. To that end, this spring we have been collaborating with campus faculty from the Schools of Business Administration, Communication, and Education in developing new initiatives.

In light of these exciting developments in education, training, and community service of the law, we are proud, we hope that you will join us on as friends of the Center for Ethics & Public Service.

Terry

Anthony A. Abbott
Professor of Law

A NOTE FROM DEPUTY DIRECTOR KARI P. THOMPSON

Thank you for your ongoing support of the Center for Ethics & Public Service. As the Center advances toward its 50th anniversary in 2021, we invite you to join us in celebrating the achievements of the past year and in looking forward to the exciting transitions of the upcoming year.

During the 2009-2010 academic year more than 1,486 fellows and interns enrolled in the Center’s education and training programs and community service clinics. Highlights include the Professional Responsibility and Ethics Program’s presentation of 20 continuing legal education bar and bench training workshops and nine leadership luncheons, the Jennings Law Program’s collaboration with ten Miami-Dade County schools, the Historic Black Church Program’s West Coast and Healing and pro bono projects, and the Environmental Law Project’s sponsored its 2nd annual earth-friendly program with the Natural Resources Defense Council.

In the upcoming 2010-2011 academic year, the Center will set out to earn further support of its current education and training programs and to establish new Interdisciplinary, campus-community programs featuring institutional and interdisciplinary accreditation in the fields of pre-established responsibility and public service. To that end, this spring we have been collaborating with campus faculty from the Schools of Business Administration, Communication, and Education in developing new initiatives.

In light of these exciting developments in education, training, and community service of the law, we are proud, we hope that you will join us on as friends of the Center for Ethics & Public Service.

Terry

Anthony A. Abbott
Professor of Law