

2016-2017 Instructions for the Entering First-Year Applicant

Character and Fitness and the Need for Full Disclosure

Applicants should take care to respond fully, fairly, and carefully to every question on the application. The University of Miami School of Law is primarily an academic institution. In evaluating applications, the admissions committee is thus principally concerned with candidates' potential for succeeding in and contributing to the academic program and School of Law community. The care, candor, and integrity evidenced by the application can be significant factors in that evaluation.

Applicants should be aware that in conducting character and fitness investigations (discussed under Conviction of a Crime and State Bar Requirements section of these instructions), bar authorities frequently request copies of candidates' applications for admission to law school to determine whether they have supplied erroneous or incomplete information in the admissions process. If discrepancies are found, bar authorities may conclude that they so far undermine a candidate's credibility as to call into question his or her fitness for admission to the bar.

In this regard, Miami Law places upon each applicant the continuing responsibility to notify the School of Law of any changes after submitting the application. This notification is required either prior to admission or at any time while enrolled as a student, and includes the information required by questions 1 and 2 under Character and Fitness on the application.

Admission Standards

Admission decisions at Miami Law are based upon applicants' potential for excellence in the study of law. The standard indicators of such potential, prior academic achievements and LSAT score, are evaluated in light of the quality of the undergraduate institution and the rigor of the courses selected by each applicant. In deciding among applicants who satisfy the school's high academic standards factors such as significant work experience, extracurricular activities or community service, and unusual skills or backgrounds will also be considered. Because the process is selective, applicants are encouraged to provide a complete overview of their background and accomplishments. Applicants who are granted admission must possess bachelor degrees that have been awarded by an institution that is accredited by an accrediting agency recognized by the United States Department of Education or an equivalent degree from an international institution (see International Transcript submission). Miami Law is committed to a policy of enhancing the diversity of its student body and encourages applications from members of all minority groups.

Time of Submission of Application

Applying electronically through LSAC's Credential Assembly Service (CAS), an option which is included in your Credential Assembly Service registration, is preferred. An electronic version of the completed application will be sent to Miami Law. Information about the admissions process and links to LSAC/Credential Assembly Service are available through Miami Law's official website at www.law.miami.edu.

Miami Law will begin receiving electronic applications on September 1, 2016. Admission decisions are made on a rolling basis throughout the year. Applications will be reviewed as soon as all required documents have been received. Completion of the application by February 1, 2017 or earlier is strongly advised to place applicants in the best position for admission. Competitive applicants who complete their files prior to January 9, 2017 will be optimally placed for scholarship consideration. Applications received after February 1, 2017 will continue to be accepted and reviewed on a seat available basis until July 31, 2017.

Address Update or Name Change

It is important that we have a current postal and e-mail address for applicants at all times. If either of the addresses provided on the application changes at any time, notify us promptly in writing. Applicants who legally change their name must submit documentation to the Office of Admissions to reflect this change on the student record.

International Transcript Submission

The University of Miami School of Law requires that international transcripts be submitted through the LSAC's Credential Assembly Service (CAS) authentication and evaluation feature. Applicants completing more than one year of post secondary work outside the US (including its territories) or Canada must use this service for the evaluation of their international transcripts. This service is included with the Credential Assembly Service registration fee. An International Credential Evaluation will be completed by the American Association of Collegiate Registrars and Admissions Officers (AACRAO), which will be incorporated into the LSAC Credential Assembly Service (CAS) Law School Report. Students applying to the Juris Doctor program must possess a bachelor's degree awarded by an institution that is accredited by an accrediting agency recognized by the United States Department of Education or an equivalent degree from an international institution. The evaluation from the Credential Assembly Service will clarify if international degrees meet this requirement. Questions about the Credential Assembly Service should be directed to LSAC by e-mail to LSACinfo@LSAC.org or by calling 215.968.1001.

English Language Proficiency Test (TOEFL / IELTS)

Applicants whose native language is not English, and whose undergraduate education is from outside the US, are required to submit results of an English language proficiency test. Miami Law will accept scores from either the Test of English as a Foreign Language TOEFL or the International English Language Testing System (IELTS). The minimum required TOEFL score for admission is 580 paper-based, 237 computer-based and 92 internet-based. The minimum required IELTS score for admission is 7.0. LSAC's institutional code to electronically report the TOEFL score is 8395. No institutional code is needed for the IELTS. Scores from either tests will be included in the authentication and evaluation feature of the LSAC's Credential Assembly Service (CAS) report.

Law School Admission Test

Every applicant must take the Law School Admission Test (LSAT). We encourage applicants to take the June or October test the year prior to entry to permit early file completion. However, we will accept December and February LSAT scores. LSAT scores achieved in June 2012 or after will be considered. Applicants presenting scores prior to June 2012 must retake the LSAT. Individuals who do not sit for the examination on the date(s) indicated on their application must inform us in writing as soon as possible. In most cases, the highest LSAT score will be given the greater weight in the review process.

Credential Assembly Service (CAS)

Miami Law requires each applicant to register with LSAC's Credential Assembly Service. All undergraduate transcripts must be sent to the Credential Assembly Service. Information about this service can be found at LSAC.org. Applicants may obtain registration information by contacting LSAC at 215.968.1001, or by mailing their request for information to Law School Admission Council, 662 Penn Street, Box 2000, Newtown, PA 18940-0998. The University of Miami Credential Assembly Service code number is 5815. Applicants who completed more than one year of post secondary work outside the US (including its territories) or Canada must submit their international transcripts through the Credential Assembly Service, as explained under the International Transcript Submission section of these instructions.

Transcripts

In order to process the application, we must receive transcripts for all academic work undertaken, whether at the undergraduate, graduate, or professional level (including credit and non-credit courses). These transcripts must be sent to us through LSAC's Credential Assembly Service. Transcripts for any work completed after an applicant has fulfilled all the requirements for Credential Assembly Service submission, such as transcripts for the final semester or summer session of college, may be sent to us through LSAC's Credential Assembly Service, or by the registrar's office of the institution attended. It is to an applicant's benefit to submit an updated Credential Assembly Service (CAS) report.

Transcripts submitted through LSAC's Credential Assembly Service, while required to process your application, are not official transcripts. In keeping with accreditation standards, should admission be offered, we require that an official transcript from the degree-granting institution be received by Miami Law prior to registration. This transcript should be sent to us directly by the registrar's office of the degree-granting institution. All acceptance offers are conditional until receipt of the applicant's official transcript conferring a bachelor's degree awarded by an institution accredited by an accrediting agency recognized by the United States Department of Education, or an equivalent degree from an international institution (see International Transcript submission). International transcripts sent to LSAC for the Credential Assembly Service will be forwarded to Miami Law upon matriculation.

Recommendations

Miami Law requires two letters of recommendation and will accept a maximum of four letters of recommendation. Recommendations should be submitted through the LSAC Evaluation Service. This service is included in the Credential Assembly Service registration. Letters of recommendation will be electronically sent to Miami Law along with the Credential Assembly Service report. Documents received by LSAC after the report has been generated will be forwarded to us as they are received at LSAC. Applicants should be sure to include their LSAC account number (or social security number) and full name (identical to the application) on all documents. At least one (and preferably both) of these recommendations should be from a faculty member who is familiar with the applicant's academic performance and has had an opportunity to evaluate some significant aspect of his/her academic work. Applicants who have been out of school for a number of years and are unable to obtain recommendations from former professors, may submit recommendations from employers or other persons with whom they have worked closely since graduation. If, by February 1, we have not received one or both recommendations, but all other documentation in support of the application has been received, we may act upon the application as if it was complete. It is to applicants' advantage to ensure that all recommendations written on their behalf are submitted promptly. Applications may be submitted to Miami Law prior to having recommendations forwarded. Applicants choosing to have their recommendations forwarded directly to Miami Law should mail their letters to the University of Miami School of Law, Office of Admissions, PO Box 248087, Coral Gables, FL 33124-8087.

Personal Statement

Applicants are encouraged to include with their application a personal statement containing information about themselves, such as standardized test history (if relevant), work experience, leadership roles, community service, specific interest in the law, or unique circumstances. This information will be used by the Admissions Committee in reaching a decision on the application. While review by others is acceptable, this statement should be written solely by the applicant. Please use the Personal Statement feature under Attachments to electronically submit the personal statement. Miami Scholar applicants should include the following in their personal statement: the importance of public service in a legal career and how they envision utilizing the law degree to promote access to justice.

Conviction of a Crime and State Bar Requirements

In addition to a bar examination, there are character, fitness, and other qualifications for admission to the bar in every U.S. jurisdiction. Applicants are encouraged to determine the requirements for any jurisdiction in which they intend to seek admission by contacting the jurisdiction. Addresses for all relevant agencies are available through the National Conference of Bar Examiners at www.ncbex.org. Applicants with criminal convictions may find it difficult to gain admission to the bar of some states. Because the rules and procedures of states differ, applicants convicted of a crime should consult the bar authorities in each state in which they intend to practice. Furthermore, applicants should keep in mind that state bar authorities are concerned about the veracity of prospective lawyers and thus with applicants' truthfulness in supplying and updating information requested on law school applications. Applicants failing to disclose a crime for which they have been convicted, or omit related requested information, may experience, on these grounds alone, unusual delays or other problems in being admitted to the bar. Additional information regarding this topic is found under the Character and Fitness and the Need for Full Disclosure section of these instructions.

Application Fee and Fee Waiver Request

Upon completion of the application, submit a nonrefundable $60 application fee to finalize the process. When using LSAC's electronic service, applicants may pay by credit card and submit an electronic signature with no certification form required. Applicants may also pay with a check, payable to the University of Miami, and mail it with the Payment Certificate Form to the University of Miami, School of Law, Office of Admissions, PO Box 248087, Coral Gables, FL 33124-8087.

For applicants who have been pre-approved for a fee waiver from LSAC or received a Miami Law fee waiver, the waiver process will be automatic when applying electronically through LSAC. Applicants who have not been pre-approved for an application fee waiver and are unable to pay the application fee should indicate on the electronic application that they will pay the application fee directly to Miami Law, complete the Payment Certificate Form, check the Applying for UM Application Fee Waiver box, and mail the form to us. Thereafter, applicants must have the financial aid office of their college or university send us a letter indicating financial need. If not available, applicants must submit a copy of their most recent income tax return along with the Payment Certificate Form. After receiving this documentation, we will consider the application fee waiver request.

Financial Aid Information

Applicants wishing to receive financial aid information should answer affirmatively to this question on the application. The Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA/Renewal FAFSA) will become available after October 1, 2016. The University of Miami preferred FAFSA deadline is March 1, 2017. Please visit the Federal Student Aid Programs webpage at www.fafsa.gov for more information.

Acknowledgments

Applicants will receive an electronic acknowledgment upon receipt of their application and application fee. When receiving and processing the Credential Assembly Service report, we will notify applicants only if any other required supporting document has not been received. Applicants may review their requirements checklist through LSAC's Applicant Status Online at LSAC.org. Missing information notifications will not be sent after February 1, 2017.
