Estimated Cost of Attendance for International J.D. Students

The figures listed below represent estimated costs for an academic year* (nine months) for a single student at the University of Miami School of Law.

Tuition	51280
Required Fees	1110
Health Insurance (required, unless waived)	3094
Room and Board	14100
Books and Supplies	1800
Personal	1670
Transportation	3500
Total Cost of Attendance (9 months)	$76,554

*Estimated costs are based on the 2018-2019 academic year. Tuition represents a flat rate. Health Insurance may be waived with proof of comparable insurance. An annual parking decal is charged during the fall semester only and is included in the transportation cost.

Costs for married law students accompanied by their families will be higher. For your first dependent (spouse or child) budget an additional $10,420, for each additional dependent budget an additional $4,307. Please note that if you are a US citizen or an eligible non-citizen you may qualify for the US Federal Government Financial Aid Program. Your eligibility for aid does not increase based on your dependents, it is determined based on your status as a professional student.

The final 2018-2019 Cost of Attendance International Students Only will be posted in April or May. Once it is posted, you may access this document at http://www.law.miami.edu/iml/financial-aid/cost-of-attendance-student-budgets.)

Actual costs for Room, Board, Personal and Transportation will depend on a variety of personal choices that you make, including:

- * Whether you have a roommate, or live alone (the current estimate assumes a roommate);
- * Whether you own and maintain a car, or use mass transit;
- * Where you decide to live in relation to the University.

The expenses listed above do not include:

- * Transportation to and from the home country and the United States;
- * Cost of purchasing an automobile;
- * Extravagant choice of entertainment or free-time activities;
- * Increase in tuition or fees for the next academic year;
- * Any additional tuition or fees that may result from completing your studies in more than two semesters.

The University of Miami reserves the right to change any provision herein, including but not limited to the tuition and fees, and any time with or without notice.
